Campus offers many activities to student body

by Marcel Bright

Students wishing to try their hand at new and different activities can participate in one of the more than 50 clubs and organizations on Eastern's campus.

Following is a list of some of the clubs and organizations at Eastern and a brief description of each.

University Board: The UB is divided into 13 committees including movies, concerts, video tapes, special events, communications, publicity, coffeehouse, fine arts, travel, human potential, recreation, homecoming and lectures.

These various committees contact and coordinate the various entertainment events that occur on campus. Interested person should contact UB Chairman Greg Kaefer.

University model United Nations: The model U.N. gives students a chance to debate different points of view on world issues in a simulated U.N. security council meeting. Interested students can contact model U.N. adviser John Faust of the political science department.

The Eastern Film Society: sponsors a series of films shown and discussed during the semester. Fourteen films will be shown this semester beginning with the science fiction thriller THX1138, directed by Star Wars creator George Lucas.

Other films scheduled for the semester include "Blow Up" and (See ACTIVITIES page 9)

Iranian military chief calls for troop loyalty

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Iran's military chief, in an unprecedented radio appeal, called on his troops Monday to "overcome their sentiments" for Moslem religious leaders and defend the government left behind by the shah.

New political violence flared in the provinces. Armored troops in one western city broke up street battles between pro-and anti-shah gangs in which five persons were reported killed.

In another serious blow to the embattled government of Prime Minister Shahpour Bakhtiar, the head of the Regency Council that supposedly is acting in the shah's absence, Jalal Tehrani resigned under pressure from anti-shah religious leader Ayatullah Khomeini.

Gen. Abbas Gharabaghi, military chief of staff, made his broadcast speech after telling reporters the 430,000-man armed forces stood firmly behind the "legal and constitutional" Bakhtiar government in the face of the challenge by Khomeini, long-exiled head of Iran's dominant Shiite Moslem sect.

Khomeini, who orchestrated the movement that drove Shah Mohammad Raza Pahlavi from Iran, plans to return to Iran Friday and vows to replace Bakhtiar and the U.S.-

backed constitutional monarchy with an Islamic republic.

The army, many of whose top commanders remain loyal to the shah, may hold the key to whether Khomeini succeeds in toppling the Pahlavi dynasty. Tehran has been filled with rumors of a possible military coup to keep Khomeini from power.

"In this sensitive period of history, I would like to remind you that the unity, security and well-being of the people is in danger," Gharabaghi told the armed forces.

He said he was sure "that all of you will not hesitate in performing your duties." But he said "elements with bad intentions" were seeking to infiltrate the ranks of the military "and create difficulties."

He appealed to young enlisted soldiers, many of whom are believed to have deep respect for Khomeini, "to make the best use of the experience of their commanders."

"The servants of the imperial armed forces, with decisive will and patriotism, will overcome their sentiments and will endeavor more than before to support the legal government."

In his earlier news conference, the general again denied a coup was planned.

President signs budget for 1980

WASHINGTON—President Carter Monday signed and sent Congress a “lean and austere” budget for 1980 that he said will increase outlays for defense and the poor while helping to throttle the government’s voracious appetite for spending.

Despite controversial cuts in jobs programs and a freezing of other programs for states and cities, Carter said “the budget is indeed fair to everyone in our nation.”

The budget totals $531.6 billion and includes a deficit of $29 billion. It sets aside $2.5 billion to be paid to American workers as inflation insurance in 1980, if Congress approves.

Spending would be equal to $2,416.85 for every American. The current 1979 budget provides for spending of $493.4 billion and a deficit of $37.4 billion.

East recovering from heavy rain

Rain-swollen rivers receded Monday as the Northeast struggled to deal with flooding spawned by a heavy weekend downpour. Families in three states were forced to flee their homes, and air, auto and rail traffic were tangled in the storm.

At least 18 persons were killed in weather-related accidents, and the rain transformed some highways into rivers in the populous Northeast corridor from Virginia through Massachusetts.

The region had braced for a taste of the heavy snow which battered the Midwest last week, but warm ocean air turned the snow into sleet and rain as temperatures climbed Sunday into the 40s and 50s.

Gov. Ella Grasso declared a state of emergency in Connecticut, where more than 4 inches of rain fell in some sections in a 12-hour period. The business districts in Stratford and Milford were under waisthigh water. Scores of drivers were trapped in their autos.

Bomb in Beirut kills PLO guard

BEIRUT, Lebanon—A booby-trapped automobile packed with explosives blew up on a Beirut street Monday, ripping a passing station wagon to shreds and killing eight persons, including Ali Hassan Salameh, the reputed mastermind of the 1972 Munich Olympics massacre, officials said.

The explosion killed four Palestinian bodyguards in the station wagon with him. Shrapnel and flying glass from the blast killed three Lebanese pedestrians and wounded 16 others.

The Palestine Liberation Organization said Salameh, code-named “Abu Hassan,” was mortally injured when the booby-trapped car, parked near his heavily-guarded home in Beirut’s Moslem sector, was detonated by remote control as Abu Hassan’s station wagon passed it.

Abu Hassan, 36, was the top security guard of PLO guerrilla chieftain Yasser Arafat and was chief of the secret service of Al Fatah, the largest of the seven PLO factions.

TV’s ‘Holocaust’ causes problem

BONN, West Germany—West German police guarded TV transmitters against possible sabotage of the first telecast Monday night of the movie “Holocaust,” which deals with Nazi persecution of the Jews.

“This is the hardest subject for a German to deal with,” said Edith Keller, a native German and a U.S. Embassy media specialist. She said the movie had received “enormous” attention in the West German media as it did when shown in the United States last year.

Chancellor Helmut Schmidt, who served as an anti-aircraft lieutenant in World War II, planned to watch the movie, “time permitting,” a chancellery spokesman told The Associated Press.

Chief Federal Rebmann said police suspected neo-Nazis were responsible for last Thursday’s bombing of a transmitter near Koblenz that cancelled transmission of a documentary on death camps.

“We are still getting threats constantly,” said a West German television source who asked not to be identified. Official spokesmen denied any threats.

Jailer forsees inmate violence

CHICAGO—A bloodbath has been predicted by a corrections officer unless the flow of contraband at the Stateville Correctional Center is greatly reduced.

Lt. Jerry Cook told the Chicago Tribune that his unit has arrested at least 70 prison employees for smuggling, but virtually nothing is being done to prosecute them. He estimated that only about 5 percent of the contraband entering the prison has been intercepted.

Cook said that if jailers can’t keep control of the 2,000 inmates, “either there’s going to be a mass murder of guards or inmates or both.”

Cook added: “I don’t care if this costs me my job. Somebody’s got to open up the public’s eyes. Somehow, we’ve got to get somebody to start listening.

“I don’t want any more people to lose their lives. We can’t keep this place on deadlock 24-hour lockup forever. Once you lose control of 2,000 men, you’ve got a problem.”

Cook said gangs have more control of the prison than the guards and administration.

“But if we can dry up this stuff weapons coming into the institution we’ll have a fighting chance.”

Nursing mother alarms station

IOWA CITY, Iowa—Firefighter Linda Eaton returned to work Monday from maternity leave and was promptly suspended for nursing her baby while on duty at the fire station.

Dale Helling, assistant city manager, said Miss Eaton had been ordered to report for work again on Wednesday—her next regularly scheduled work day—and she will be subject to disciplinary action again if she nurses her child during duty hours.

Helling said the next time it happens, she may well be subject to action “possibly of a more strict nature” than just being sent home for the day.

The local chapter of the National Organization for Women, meanwhile, announced it was forming a legal defense fund for Miss Eaton.

The 26-year-old woman has proclaimed her intention of nursing her 3 and a half-month-old son, Ian, on her “personal time” at work, but Iowa City Fire Department officials have said they will not allow her to do so.

Illinois farmers prepare to rally

Small bands of Illinois farmers fine-tuned their tractors for the long, slow journey Tuesday to Vandalia to rally with others for a trip to Washington to again plead agriculture’s case before the Congress.

Roger Meneese who farms 900 acres and raises beef cattle near Anna with his father, Donald Meneese, said six tractors and two pickup trucks were making the journey to Vandalia.

“It’s a 114-mile drive,” he said. “We’ll try to average 15 mph. Some tractors will go 20 and a few 25, but very few.”

State Department of Law Enforcement spokesman Les Pauli said his agency had no idea how many farmers would be in the various tractorcades, but plans were under way to help them travel without inconveniencing other motorists.

GPA to determine overload eligibility next fall

by Bob Glover

Effective next fall, grade point average requirements will determine whether students other than freshmen are eligible for course overloads.

The Council on Academic Affairs unanimously approved a proposal at their last meeting, which will limit the number of students taking overloads.

Since the CAA also recently approved a proposal to increase the full-time class limit to 18 semester hours, the following minimum GPA requirements for 19 or more class hours are: sophomores, 3.00, juniors, 2.75 and seniors 2.50.

Freshmen, who do not have established GPA's, will not be allowed to take overloads. Seniors with less than a 2.50 GPA will be permitted to take an overload with the approval of the dean of the appropriate school.

Teacher policies to be debated

Possible changes in university policies concerning selection and retention of teacher education candidates will be considered Tuesday by the Council on Teacher Education.

The COTE will meet at 2 p.m. in the Union addition Tuscola-Arcola room.

COTE Chairman Kathleen Shank said Monday the council will consider possible changes in regard to the grade point average required as well as the employment of diverse selection or retention instruments other than those currently used.

Former Student Executive Vice President Don Dotzauer, a member of CAA at the time of decision before break, said Sunday "this new action will decrease the number of overload drops by students."

In addition, Dotzauer explained that more classes will remain relatively open for the students who wish to further their education by taking overloads.

Julie Sullivan, student Board of Governors representative and a member of the CAA, said Monday

Dogs assault Charleston girl

A Charleston girl was attacked by two dogs just off campus Friday and is currently in "stable condition," an official hospital spokesman said Monday.

Jamie Lynn Miller, age 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Miller, 712 Ninth St., Charleston, is in Carle Hospital Clinic in Champaign.

She has lacerations on her face as a result of the dog attack which occurred just outside of her home, a police department spokesman said.

Charleston Police Department intern John Henry said, "We are still looking for the dogs which have not been found yet."

Joyce Bartczak, public information employee at Carle Hospital, said Monday, "She (Jamie) will be receiving rabies vaccine because of the possibility the dogs are carrying the disease and they have not yet been found."

"the poorer students are taking up courses on a temporary basis and simply shopping around for classes."

Sullivan cited an unusual case where one student enrolled in one course in three different sections, simply to find out which instructor was the least difficult grader.

In addition to approving the overload requirements, the CAA has officially recommended to Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin and Vice President for Academic Affairs Thomas Bond that the current overload fee be eliminated.

The fee is charged to students who are enrolled in 19 semester hours or more on the seventh day of classes.

The fee for an undergraduate Illinois resident is $21.25 per each credit hour over 19 and $63.75 for all out of state resident students.

Concerning the CAA's recommendation to eliminate overload fees, Sullivan said "Don (Dotzauer) and I feel the fees structure is wrong. The increased amount of money results in fewer students furthering their education. I hope that Marvin and Bond make their decision based on economics."

Article spurs sympathy for the 'misquoted'

Politicians, celebrities and others who are often found on the pages of newspapers will sometimes complain that they are misquoted when what they are reported to have said casts them in a unfavorable light.

Upon hearing that their credibility is being questioned, most reporters check through their scrawled notes to see if the complaint is justified and then generally attribute the newsmaker's claim of an inaccurate quote to its troublesome content.

And in most instances I've been involved with, the person has been accurately quoted. The problem doesn't arise until an angry reader phones the person quoted to say that he or she said a dumb thing to the newspaper. To defend himself, the newsmaker's response is that he was misquoted, that he surely wouldn't say anything like the Daily Blah said he did.

However, something happened to me recently that has given me a new insight, perhaps sympathy, for those who say they have been misquoted. To be more specific, I think I was misquoted.

Norm
Lewis

The questionable quote appeared Dec. 24 in the Decatur Herald as part of a story that regional desk reporter Dick Zaker did on the growth of the journalism program here. Zaker interviewed the department chairman, the adviser to the Eastern News and a couple of students, including myself.

Zaker quoted me as saying, "When I was a freshman, the paper could not be believed." That is obviously something of a controversial quote and doesn't say very nice things about my predecessors who worked on the News three years ago.

My first reaction was to say I had been misquoted. I had been talking about a certain section of the paper and thought I had said the writing sometimes was not believable.

But then I began to think about politicians who make similarly defensive statements when others confront them with their own words in black and white. I worked with Zaker this summer as an intern; I know him to be a competent, accurate reporter who doesn't make mistakes.

So who's right? I'll place my stock in the interviewer, who, like other reporters, does not keep notes for the benefit of others to read but nevertheless has some written account of the interview.

I'd like to think I'm right, of course. As one of the persons who worked on the paper my freshman year, I should not have said something as obviously wrong as "the paper could not be believed." Perhaps an apology to the distinguished editors and reporters who were on the News that year is in order.

As for me, I now see afresh the importance of being accurate in the smallest detail. And I think I'll be more understanding of the next person who says he's misquoted.

Letters to the editor

Tugger vs. Lisa

Editor,

I am writing this letter with hopes that some action may be taken in the future. I would like to ask who determines what news gets priority coverage? I have become confused as to what makes a front page story.

My curiosity has been aroused by the coverage on Tugger, the former frat mascot who died, in comparison to that of the Homecoming Coronation this fall.

I was sorry to hear of Tugger's death. I am sure the accident touched the Sig Taus especially.

The question I am posing is not why was a mascot's death important but why wasn't the coronation results of Eastern's Homecoming covered equally on the front page, the following day? Homecoming is a special time of year for the entire student body.

I am sure more people noticed Tugger's write-up and 7"x6" picture on the front page than those who thumbed through to the fifth page to see an article about 2"x9", complete with a photo and some brief information on Lisa Goeken, our student bodys' selection for Homecoming queen.

I cannot remember offhand what the front page hit us with on the day following coronation; it made such an impression on me, I threw it away.

All has been said and done about Homecoming. It is slowly being forgotten, except for the newspaper clippings. This year's Homecoming was one of Eastern's best. The spirit was fantastic! Did you know there was a record high number of students who voted for our Homecoming Queen?

The only pre-coronation coverage the Eastern News published was about the fact that the Greeks were entering only two candidates in efforts to beat out Carman. This article was much larger than the "mini-article" of Lisa, which did not even appear the day following coronation but a couple days after. It appears to me the only way students knew of Homecoming and its activities was due to advertisements paid for by the University Board.

I was very disappointed in the Eastern News' coverage on this year's Homecoming and its activities. I was surprised to see that Lisa Goeken received a large photo and article, on the front page of the Town Crier, the day after the coronation. It's too bad that the majority of students do not subscribe to the Town Crier so they could have seen the results of their voting.

It's too late now-perhaps next year will be different. If 1979 is like 1978 don't forget to buy a Town Crier or the news you want to hear will be late.

Julie Hellyer

Glorified bottle

Editor,

I was disenchanted with Tom Keefe's column, a criticism of NBC's journalistic effort on marijuana.

Perhaps Tom has not read the one-sided stories that the Eastern News has run concerning alcohol and football games since Youngstown State and the ensuing national championship.

Too many stories have gloried alcohol. Journalistically I think it is irresponsible to mention alcohol so often and to feature an article on the amount of schnappes sold. (Usually trivia is used for two-line filler, not half-page filler.)

The only comments to the contrary were provided in the tail-end of a story when Vice President Glenn Williams warned that students might be searched for alcohol in Texas and that security would prevent students from storming the field. (I consider that an omen of things to come here, another freedom lost here by irresponsible behavior.)

I think Dr. Williams didn't want us to embarrass ourselves in Texas as did here.

So, Tom audaciously criticized NBC; but hypocrisy begins where we stand.

Cartoonist makes gains

Editor,

Thanks for the package of strips—I didn't know editors ever cleaned out their desks. It was fun to look through all those drawings again; I'd forgotten what all I'd done. I haven't syndicated anything yet, but I have sold a monthly feature to Good Housekeeping starting with the March issue. It's called "Katie," it's about a little girl and will appear on the inside back page every month. It has a title and byline and hopefully everyone will like it as much as I do, so be sure to renew your subscription. It's a start and I'm glad to be doing it. Nothing like Catatonic State but take a look anyway if you get the chance.

V. Gene Myers

P.S. I watched Eastern on TV out here win the title in Texas. I was in the TV department at Penny's and watched it all there. I didn't even know they were going to be on. I just saw it all by accident. They kept trying to sell me a TV since I stood there for the last hour to see the finale. Congrats to them.

I suggest the student press develop an editorial position on the mixing of drinking alcohol and viewing athletic events.

Some student's behavior at the game here was abusive, irresponsible, and dangerous.

Games should be able to be enjoyed without alcohol needed to "keep warm," remove inhibitions or create a better atmosphere.

We should not need to get drunk to enjoy the game. A better time-and-place philosophy should be developed.

Even at the Purdue wrestling match janitors swept up bottles and cigarette butts. I'm told I should see the mess under the bleachers after a basketball game.

Yes, Tom, even your own newspaper should present both sides of an issue; NBC downplays marijuana but the Eastern News has glorified drinking.

(Previous news stories revealed an alcohol abuse problem that may be encouraged with such irresponsible reporting.)

I remember when the News motto was, "Tell the Truth and Don't Be Afraid." Here is an opportunity.

Letters Policy

All letters to the editor must carry the name, address and telephone number of their authors for identification purposes. Letters which do not carry this information will not be published. Names will be withheld upon written request. Letters should be typed and should not exceed 250 words in length. Letters will be edited only for libelous material or space consideration.

Graduate time limits to be debated

by Laura Fraembs

Graduate students beginning work next fall for an advanced degree may face a time limit of six years for degree completion, Jon Laible, Council on Graduate Studies chairman, said Monday.

The two degrees which would be affected by the proposed time limit--requiring students to complete all degree work within a consecutive six year period--are the master's degree and the specialist degree programs.

Laible said the CGS is currently considering a proposal from Larry Williams, acting dean of the graduate school, which would place the six year restriction on both degrees.

The specialist degree is "essentially a sixth year degree, usually earned after and in addition to the master's. It's typically for people in the field of educational administration," Laible said.

"As it stands now, the master's degree already has a six year limit, but there is no restriction on the length of time for the specialist degree," he said.

Although the CGS has considered the six year limit and asked for public reaction to the proposal, Laible said, "We have not decided at this point what exact limit to place on the specialist degree--it's fair to say more revision is needed."

"There has been some complaining that it (the time restriction) might cause graduate enrollment to drop, but if we want an honest and up-to-date degree program, that's a risk we have to take," he said.

He explained the six year limit was proposed because "in the field of education, course material that's old and out of date doesn't make much sense."

Laible said if the proposal is approved by the CGS, it will affect "all people starting graduate school the term after we approve the limit."

EFS kicks off season with new movie schedule

by Sandy Young

The Eastern Film Society will kick off its season Tuesday night with a science fiction thriller that was directed by George Lucas before he made "Star Wars."

The movie, THX1138, will be shown in the Booth Library Lecture Room at 5, 7, and 9 p.m.

The story, which is set in the 25th century, depicts a "rigidly controlled society" where people are kept on tranquilizers, Frank Stokes, EFS advisor said.

"One man reduces his tranquilizer dosage until he can feel and he falls in love. He then runs away with the girl, and the last part of the movie is a chase," Stokes explained.

Admission is $1 at the door.

Stokes said season tickets for the entire series will also be available at the door at a cost of $8.

These tickets will cover the 14 film society movies, all of which will be shown on Tuesday nights.

Season tickets will also be available later at Stokes office in Room 314K Coleman Hall.

Stokes said one of the films scheduled later this semester is the original 1956 version of "Invasion of the Body Snatchers."

Other movies will include an Italian film, "Blow-Up" by Antonioni, and "Lady of Shanghai," directed by Orson Wells.

Stokes said the EFS movies, which were shown last semester in the Buzzard Auditorium, will be moved to the library because "It's a much better place."

He added that the movie series was originally shown in the library but had to be moved last semester because of remodeling which is now finished.

Film by Star Wars director to be shown

THX 1138, a science fiction film directed by Star Wars creator George Lucas will be shown at 5 p.m., 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. Tuesday in the Booth Library lecture room.

The film, sponsored by the Eastern Film Society, is the story of a man who resists the rigidly controlled way of life in the 25th century.

Admission is one dollar.

For the record

The Eastern News incorrectly identified in Monday's paper Don Carmichael as dean of fine arts. Carmichael is the director of the planned Tarble Art Center while Vaughn Jaenike is dean of the School of Fine Arts.

In the picture above the story, the News reported that Fred and Nancy Bennett were admiring one of A.P. Bennett's watercolors. The painting is in a separate display of another artist's works.

In addition, two girls pictured on the front page of Monday's edition were incorrectly identified. They are, Jan Brading and Margot Leyden, both 11 years old.

The News regrets the errors.

Scholarships to be given

by Sandy Young

Two scholarships for persons majoring in any area of Special Education are being offered by the National Philanthropic Council of Alpha Sigma Alpha social sorority.

The scholarships are in the form of $500 each and are being offered to Special Education majors throughout the country.

Anyone on campus who is a Special Education or Speech Pathology major and has a grade point average of 3.0 or above may apply for a scholarship, Irene Downs, Alpha Sigma Alpha philanthropic chairman said.

Applications may be obtained at the Financial Aids office and the Special Education office, Room 224 in the Buzzard Education Building or by calling 348-8640.

All applications must be completed and returned to the Financial Aids office or to the Special Education office by Feb. 7.

Scholarship winners for the 1979-1980 school year will be notified in May of 1979, Downs said.

Faculty meeting set for Tuesday

The Faculty Senate Tuesday will hold a general faculty meeting instead of its regular meeting to explain proposed amendments to the Constitution before a general vote by the faculty.

The 2 p.m. meeting in the Buzzard Education Building Auditorium is held according to the requirements of the Faculty Senate Constitution and then must be approved by two-thirds majority of the Senate.

Shuff added that a vote on the changes will take place within the week following the faculty meeting.

Coop Ed offers credit for career related job

by Betsy Guzor

Students who wish to work in a career-related job for academic credit can take advantage of Eastern's Cooperative Education program. Leonard Wood of the Cooperative Education office said Tuesday is the last day to add the one-hour course. Working with the Washington Center for Learning Alternatives, the office helps arrange career-related jobs for students who have at least 30 semester credit hours. The dual objective of the program is to "find the position for the student, and find the student for the position," Wood said. Some positions are already available for the students, but some jobs have to be located, Wood said.

work in a career-related job up to 20 hours a week. Both one-hour programs may be repeated for a total of three credits, Wood said.

The office has jobs and programs available in government, private industry and public service institutions Wood explained.

Some of the students who have worked in the co-op program are offered jobs by their co-op employers after graduation, Wood said.

"Lady of Shanghai." Interested students should contact Frank Stokes of the English department.

The Black Student Union: sponsors activities specifically designed for black students.

The BSU sponsors dances, speakers, picnics and Black Awareness Week. Interested students should contact Cedric Chester, BSU president.

Several religion orientated organizations have been formed on campus.

These organizations include the Baptist Student Union, Campus Advance, Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship, Muslim Students Association, Navigators and Newman Community and the United Campus Ministry.

Two student organizations on campus are specifically designed for foreign students.

The Association for International Students sponsors international teas that feature special foods from different nations and is open to all students and faculty.

The other foreign student club is Wanafunzi Afrijamaa which is organized for African students.

Eastern also has more than 30 departmental clubs open to all students.

'LT' walks on to league honor

by Brad Patterson

One of the most pleasant surprises for Eastern head coach Don Eddy this season has been the play of junior guard Dave LeTourneau.

LeTourneau, a Batavia native, has run the full course since coming to Eastern. A walk-on performer as a freshman, LeTourneau was made a starter a month ago, and was named MCC 'Player of the Week' two weeks ago.

Since LeTourneau has been a starter, the Panthers won three straight road games before dropping two Mid-Continent Conference games over the weekend.

"I would say that Dave played a key part in our winning those three games," Eddy said. "He gave us the leadership that we had been lacking at the guard position."

'LT' is a fourth year junior, having been red-shirted one season, and has spent a majority of his time sitting on the bench behind such performers as Charlie Thomas and Derrick Scott.

"I knew I was going to sit when I came here," LeTourneau said. "But, I think that practicing here got me as much as playing somewhere else would have."

At the start of the season LeTourneau thought that he would perhaps be a starter.

"Realistically I wanted to start, but if I had to come off the bench to help the team win, then I would have done that," LeTourneau said.

One thing that both Eddy and LeTourneau agree on is that the 6-foot-1 junior does the "little" things that helps the Panthers win.

"A lot of people don't notice what Dave does for us," Eddy said. "He doesn't score a lot of points, but he is the quarterback and runs the offense for us."

"I don't look impressive out on the court," LeTourneau admits, "but I've always tried to be a leader. I have to do things like take a charging foul, or pick up loose balls to help us win."

Should opponents get the notion that LeTourneau can't score, they should check his stats of two games against Akron and Youngstown State. LT scored 22 points, while handing out 12 assists and grabbing eight rebounds.

"Dave can shoot over a zone, so no one is able to sag off him too much. He isn't real tall, so he has trouble getting open to get his shots, but when he is open he can hit the shots," Eddy said.

"I take the outside shot if they give it to me," LeTourneau said, "but that isn't what I'm supposed to do. We have a lot of talent on this team, and I get the ball to the better shooters."

As far as the team is concerned, LeTourneau won't compare this year's edition to last season's team, but did point out that the Panthers are well ahead of last season's pace.

"We peaked late last season, so we went into the tournament playing real well. We are playing so much better this season than we were at this time last year," LeTourneau said.

LeTourneau said that it was an advantage to play on a team that had so much talent, even though playing time is sometimes hard to come by.

"Just knowing that there is someone on the bench that can take your place makes you feel some pressure, but when we have so many good players you can just go out and do my job," LeTourneau said. "You just hustle as hard as you can, and if you get tired there is someone who can take your place."

LeTourneau has come a long way from walking on to the Eastern basketball team four years ago. He admits that the main reason for his coming to Eastern was because he "liked the castle."

If the Panthers make the national tournament again this season, Dave LeTourneau will be glad that he saw that castle.

Steelers' Noll wants less show in Super Bowl

MIAMI (AP)—It may be a super-duper experience to the rest of the nation, but to Coach Chuck Noll of the Pittsburgh Steelers, the Super Bowl should be a football game and no more.

If the Dallas Cowboys drove him nuts during Sunday's National Football League championship game, he kept it well hidden during Monday's news conference—one to which he arrived uncharacteristically late following a night of revelry celebrating the Steelers' 35-31 victory.

But he admitted that the seemingly interminable half-time show, becoming as traditional as boring Super Bowls used to be, had him climbing the Orange Bowl's locker room walls.

"It was just too damned long," Noll said. "And what happened was that it took us too long to get warmed up again."

"I sort of feel like I'm an advocate of the game. But what's happening is that it's gotten to the point where show business is competing with the game. The game is what draws people into the stadium, not halftime shows."

"We're used to about 15 minutes and then going right back out on the field. This thing kind of dragged on and on," he said of the Caribbean carnival, a production which employed hundreds of singers, dancers and musicians and lasted well over half an hour.

"We had guys who were kind of chomping at the bit to get out of there, to get after it. The adrenalin goes for only so long. . . But I guess it was something that couldn't be helped." He said it with a shrug of resignation—but he also said he'd like to see some sort of rule limiting the length of the half-time break in the most important game of the year.

"We came out in the second half leading 21-14 and Dallas made some adjustments defensively. It took us a while to get a feel for what they were doing. They'd been in a lot of man-to-man coverage in the first half. Then they went more to the zones."

Quarterback Terry Bradshaw wound up completing 17 of 30 passes and set Super Bowl records with his 318 yards and four touchdowns. But after hitting 11 of 18 for 253 yards and three TDs in the first half alone, he attempted just three passes one completion, 9 yards in the first 13 minutes of the third period as Pittsburgh's offense slowed to a crawl.

"I didn't think we went conservative particularly," Noll said.

DeWitt sets record in Panther win

by Brian Nielsen

Craig DeWitt fired in a Lantz Gym record 35 points to lead the Eastern Panthers to an 85-72 non-conference victory over Rose Hulman Tech Monday night.

DeWitt, taking up the slack when starting front court mate Dennis Mumford was ejected early in the contest, helped the Panthers snap a two game losing skid and raise their season record to 10-5.

Mumford, the 6-foot-9 sophomore standing center, was tossed out after just 4:59 of action for throwing a flagrant elbow.

Mumford said that he was simply retaliating against an Engineer who had instigated the action.

"I threw an elbow back at him, but it wasn't enough to throw me out," Mumford said. "He said I was intentionally trying to hurt the guy," he added.

Eastern still dominated the outside play, however, with DeWitt and reserve Tom Thigpen leading the way.

DeWitt's 35 points bettered the Lantz record of 34 set by Eastern guard Charlie Thomas against Missouri-St. Louis on Feb. 12, 1977.

DeWitt hit on 15 of 26 shots from the field to also erase the field goal mark of 14 held by three different players.

The 6-foot-8 junior had missed the early season due to mononucleosis, but he said "physically I felt strong tonight."

DeWitt did not realize he had broken the Lantz record until after the game, but he did say, "I knew I had more than usual at halftime (16 points on 8-for-11 shooting)."

"I knew the whole team needed to pick it up after Dennis went out," he continued. "Dennis is a pretty good intimidator and the whole team missed him."

As expected, Panther head coach Don Eddy was pleased with DeWitt's performance.

"I thought he played well," the coach said. "He's been playing well the last few games."

"We weren't going to anyone particular, but on our offense, he's the determiner as to which way the ball's going to go," Eddy said.

"He should be the guy getting the most shots against the zone and he was more patient tonight," Eddy added.

Comparing his club's play Monday to when it lost to Mid-Continent Conference foes Northern Iowa and Northern Michigan, Eddy said, "It's really hard to say because the competition was so different, but our overall play tonight was pretty good considering the circumstances."

Rose-Hulman, an NCAA Division III school which brought a 9-6 record into the match, gave the Panthers all they could handle in the first half.

With forwards Dave Strange and Ron Dale combining for 13 of 16 shots from outside, the Engineers hit 59.6 percent from the field and trailed just 36-35 at halftime.

Eastern was clinging to a 56-55 edge with 11:30 left in the game, but finally began to break away.

DeWitt got five quick points and then junior guard Jimi Oldham hit four straight field goals for Eastern, while Rose-Hulman could manage just one basket.

That gave the Panthers a 69-57 advantage with eight minutes remaining, and Rose could get no closer than seven from that point.

Sophomore guard Mike Pickens added 11 points for Eastern, and Thigpen had 10.

Dale and Strange finished with 25 and 20 points respectively for the losers.

DeWitt also had a game-high 13 rebounds to lead the Panthers to a 48-38 advantage on the boards.

Women cagers play host to Illinois Central J.C.

by Vickie Woodbury

After an idle weekend, the women's basketball team will be back in action when they face the Cougars of Illinois Central Junior College at 7 p.m. Tuesday at McAfee Gym.

Illinois Central is 10-1 on the season, and is led by guards Karen Erchin and Maura Moulten.

Head coach Melinda Fischer says the Erchin and Moulten are key players from the outside and their scoring averages per game are in double figures.

Illinois Central's only loss was to Vincennes (Ind.) J.C. who was then ranked eighth in the Junior College Poll. With that loss Fischer says there is a possibility that Illinois Central is now ranked but there has been no word as yet.

"They are always very good and we always have real good games with them," Fischer said.

The Cougars will have their hands full trying to stop guard Marche Harris who leads the Panthers with 15 points a game.

The women's junior varsity team will precede the varsity when they tip off at 4:45 p.m. against Danville J.C. in McAfee Gym.

"We played them last year and beat them pretty easy but this year they have more height than they have ever had," Fischer said.
